Manual-just what do we associate with this world? We think, of course of school, friends, sports, work, and many other adjectives. Since Manual has such a prevalent part in some 2600 student's and teacher's lives, it is natural that 1974 will be remembered for many things. Redskins will associate the chill of the classrooms, discussions of political controversy and the threat of other shortages to 1974. But, we'll also remember the good times, the old and close friends, the special activities, and the achievements we earned.

Education — a necessity to have in our society. Most Manualites realize this need for education even if many don't care for school. It is through education that we learn of life and living, as well as facts from books. Some feel that education is a source of information and skills that prepares for the future. We are able to learn from various sources; our own experiences, others lives, mistakes, and achievements. At Manual we receive a formal education and also a social one, where people are the teachers, not only books.

Activities — extras that help stimulate and exercise the mind and body. It is by making ourselves active in the affairs of Manual and life around us that we become aware of the problems that face us. This also makes us better equipped to offer some type of solution to these problems. It is through our activities that we gain pride in ourselves and our endeavors, that we feel an even deeper sense of belonging to life and the Manual community. Of course being active in numerous things is not the entire answer. We must remember to do our best and try our hardest at everything that we even attempt.

Students — the people that make school a necessity. They are the people who come to Manual for an education but who also educate teachers, administrators, and their fellow students through their actions, beliefs, and attitudes. Friendships grow and personalities clash through everyday life and because of the various mixtures of students. All of these people are equally important in educating his fellow student. As Manualites, each person has an obligation to Manual as well as to the other members of the school, to work together and get along.

Clubs — organizations which help us pursue a special interest. At Manual, there are many clubs available that help many Redskins feel even more a part of school. It is through these clubs that we find an outlet for our individual interests and talents. We also find friends and people who also share this common interest. Many clubs perform needed services to Manual. Others give aid to community groups. Others give background and help fill out what we learn in the classroom. But not only students make the clubs possible. It is through the leadership and guidance of faculty sponsors that every club exists. Even though many students don't show any interest in any clubs, other people seem to be joining and working together, keeping Manual's clubs active, forming new clubs, and reawakening and supporting old ones.

Language, Art Clubs enjoy exciting year

Whether taking a lesson in toga-wrapping, singing a Spanish song, or eating eclairs during a lesson on French food, Manual's three foreign language clubs kept busy learning about and enjoying the cultures of "adopted countries."

Spanish Club celebrated Christmas with its annual fiesta. They had guest speakers, films, and learned much about South American culture from Ximena Ve'Lez, exchange student from Ecuador.

Activities of the Latin Club included a wienie roast in Garfield park and the celebration of Saturnalia, a Roman holiday.

French club enjoyed a cheese and pastry party, played games in French, and had guest speakers. They also journeyed to Chicago to visit Jacques, a French restaurant, and the Chicago Museum of Art.

Art Club experienced a busy yet overwhelmingly rewarding year. Local field trips included the Indianapolis Museum of Art and various workshops. Members entered the Scholastic Art and the Museum High School competitions. Additional plans were made to go to the Chicago and Cincinnati Museums of Art to acquaint members with good art as well as to enable them to encompass an understanding of art in various perspectives.

Members worked together to finish handmade objects which were sold at the Pow Wow. Supplement profits at the Pow Wow came from a body-painting booth, an annual success among students.

Musical experience is gained by both choir, orchestra groups

Orchestra and Choir explored the worlds of music through not only individual practice, but through much experience in performing. Modern and classical music were studied daily in preparation for the many musical performances of the year.

The Orchestra received a new director in Mrs. Jacqueline Meyer. They performed in Christmas programs at the Med Center and at St. Francis hospital. They also played at Vespers and for night school commencement.

The holiday season brought with it a flurry of activity for the Choir. Their voices were heard on Monument Circle, at the Statehouse, and at the Education Center. Carols were also sung at grade schools.

Members of both organizations attended the ISMA solo-ensemble contest, had a concert, and participated in the May Festival.

Many Manual students have decided to continue music through college. Manual's music department has always and still does provide an excellent background for such future endeavors.

Band, Concert Club perform well in school and community

Busying themselves with not only school but community activities as well, the Band and Concert Club both maintained their reputations as one of the best.

Concert Club, previously known as Girl's Glee Club, sang carols at Christmas time at Lafayette Square and on Monument Circle. They participated in an all-city festival with other female groups from Indianapolis high schools.

The Redskin Marching Band entertained at home football games with their show, "The Way West." Performing during a muddy downpour, the Band received a second division in the controversial ISMA contest. Despite this setback, the Band attended I.U. Band Day in Bloomington and marched in the 500 Festival and pre-race parades. Plans were made to attend the Indiana State Fair contest the following August.

Pep Band helped spark enthusiasm by playing at basketball games. Concert Band performed at grade schools to promote interest in high school music. It also attended the ISMA playing contest.

Band and Concert Club gave a spring concert and joined with all members of the music department for the annual May Festival.

The Manual Marching Band, under the batons of Drum Majorettes Nancy Ellis and Marcia Mueller, lead the Homecoming parade.

MUC, bowlers, lettermen have fun, honors

Lettermen's Club recognized those who have earned enough points to be awarded their letter, sweater or jacket. Several activities of the year included sweeping the gym floor during basketball half-time, escorting homecoming candidates and keeping a booth at the annual Pow-Wow.

The MUC, Manual Underclassmen Club, began this year. It was an honor organization aimed at serving Manual and the surrounding area. MUC members added a great deal of spirit to the school. A certain grade point level was a requirement to join MUC.

Bowling Club changed its meeting day to Thursdays after school at Sport Bowl. Competing on teams, individual's scores and averages were kept and tallied all year. Team trophies and high scoring awards were presented at the Banquet at the season's end.

Active Redskins strive to achieve and to accomplish

Out-of-school activities occupied the time of many Manual students who were active in clubs. Science Club not only toured the Butler Observatory and the I.U. Medical Center, but sold candy in hopes of taking a Spring trip to a city of scientific importance. Guest speakers and science fair project filled remaining time.

Distributive Education, headed by Miss Sue Workman, assisted seniors in finding jobs. They received two credits and in addition were paid for their outside work. In a competitive event between schools, six students from Manual went to the State Finals at French Lick. An Employer's Awards Banquet ended the year.

National Honor Society numbered 51 members after it's formal initiation in May. Seniors and juniors were judged on qualities of character, scholarship, leadership, and service to be admitted to this honorary organization.

Student Affairs Board met every other week and was active throughout the year. They sponsored students in the Jaycee's Walk for Man-kind and operated a booth at the Pow Wow. At bi-weekly meetings they discussed and searched for solutions to the problems facing the student body.

IVIAN reflects '74 school year through dedicated students' efforts

Through the efforts of a small group of dedicated students, the IVIAN was created with the hope that it would accurately reflect the 1973-74 school year through the student's eyes. Even though there were two new advisors and a relatively new staff, all felt the finished book was a success.

Several new ideas were incorporated into this year's IVIAN, such as smaller margins and a change in headline style. A fold-out was added to the opening section, the only drawback being that 1,650 of them came separately and had to be pasted in by hand. A big job was minimized when everyone pitched in, in order to get the IVIAN delivered on time.

Fund-raising projects included yearbook and underclass picture sales, plus two dances. At the Pic Parade underclassmen could obtain and exchange pictures, and the John Henry Hop offered students a chance to have IVIAN's autographed by friends.

IVIAN Editor Karen O'Connor and Assistant Editor Brenda Hagenmaier attended the Indiana High School Journalism Institute summer workshop at I.U. Karen said, "I learned many useful things there that I might otherwise not have known." Both agreed that it was a worthwhile two weeks.

Photographers worked diligently, taking and developing pictures. It was not unusual to find the entire staff spending several weekends and vacation time at school, working to meet a deadline or putting finishing touches on what was hoped to be an interesting and attractive IVIAN.

25 IVIAN years stir memories, bring nostalgia

In 1949 the Manual publications staff chose the name IVIAN for its yearbook. The name stuck and IVIANs have annually rolled off the presses since then, recording the events, accomplishments, emotions, and hopes of Manualities through the years.

This year the IVIAN celebrates its 25th anniversary and silver anniversaries are a time for sentimental reminiscing. A look at that first IVIAN reveals that Manual today has many ties with that Manual of yesteryear. It also dramatically illustrates some of the changes which have occurred in the Redskin life-style.

Happy anniversary IVIAN!

BOOSTER proves interesting, informative with innovations

Continuing with the goal of serving as a newspaper for Manual, the BOOSTER went to press again this year. Its staff reported the various activities, events, and sports news important to the students and teachers. Yet a new aim of reaching out into community and public affairs was strived for.

BOOSTER Editor-in-chief Kay Newton helped the two new Publication's advisers Ms. Toni Hammer and Ms. Susan Donges in organizing this year's staff.

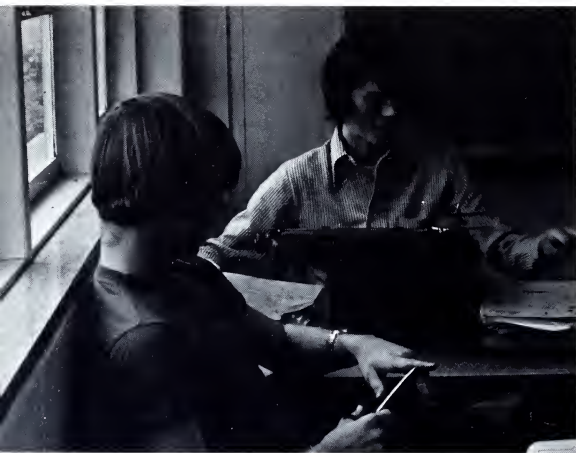

To spread out the work-load, and responsibility, page editors were a necessity. Page 2 editors Cindy Davis and Fran Long, Sports editors Joe Harmon and Dell Hendon and Page 4 editor Diana Suttner did their job of making story assignments, writing stories, editing copy, doing paste-ups and correcting proofs, all factors in putting out an effective, enjoyable and correct paper.

To keep with the idea of informing Manualites, a new column, Round the Reservation, was added this year. It contained odds and ends about students and their activities. Book and movie reviews were popular and interesting articles also new to the BOOSTER.

Photographers Greg Bentle, Greg Hollis, Ann McCarty, Bruce Peterson, Mark Terrell, and Tony Smith spent many hours shooting, developing, and printing pictures that were used to a greater extent than before in the BOOSTER.

News Bureau Head Diann Newport kept busy reporting to various Indianapolis Newspapers, keeping the surrounding community informed of Manual activities.

Thespians, Mask & Wig set stage for year of classics and comedy

International Thespian Troupe 1492 and Mask & Wig Club were the outlet for students interested in drama. Acting, although the predominant aspect of the clubs, was not the only area of drama studied. Make-up, Readers Theater, and student directing gave members other ways to work with the various performances during the year.

The comedy, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay", presented in October, was the story of two nineteen year old girls on a cruise to Europe. The antics of the girls while on their trip made for a truly hilarious adventure. Cindy Davis and Carol Smith portrayed the girls, Cornelia Skinner and Emily Kimbrough. The play, written by Cornelia Skinner, and Emily Kimbrough, was based on actual experiences.

The spring presentation, Comedy from Klassic to Kid, premiered in February. Four one-act plays were performed in the round.

A classic, "The Boor;" "The Twelve-Pound Look;" a pantomime-melodrama, "The Lighthouse Keeper's Daughter;" and a Readers Theater presentation of "Horten Hatches an Egg," provided for an entertaining evening. Both clubs sponsored the performance and try-outs were open to anyone.

Flash, pep, and spirit shows in special groups

Many Manual clubs and organizations reflected the Manual spirit of involvement and pride.

In the Music Department, twirlers and flag girls added extra flash to the marching band, and performed at basketball games. Glee-ettes and Manualaires entertained with song at both school and community affairs.

Radio Club members broadcast music throughout the school in the early morning hours. Pep Club, showing increased membership, sparked enthusiasm and echoed rousing support at football and basketball contests.

Masoma and Roines continue rivalry yet serve school in many ways

Manual's battle of the sexes continued this year. Masoma and Roines, senior female and male honoraries fought to reign supreme.

Both honoraries found fulfillment by tutoring underclassmen during lunch hours, study halls or even before or after school.

Helping at school banquets, the Masoma took on the duties of serving, then clearing tables.

Mum was the word for the Masomas during Homecoming. Five hundred mums were sold, making the project a sell-out for the first time in Masoma history.

The Roines suffered from the energy crisis and cancelled two Roines Romps. Still, the Roines found enough energy to sponsor dances December 8 and April 13. Through hard work, the Roines won a first place in the First Annual Key Club Float Contest.

Both Clubs were "all-wet" Pow-Wow night as friends and "enemies" swarmed to squirt Masoma pledges or dunk Roines actives.

Tri-Hi-Y, Key Club excel in service endeavors

Key Club and Tri-Hi-Y once again proved a source of pride at Manual as they served school, church and community with a fervor.

Tri-Hi-Y made placemats for nursing homes. They "adopted" elderly persons and visited them regularly. These were rewarding experiences not only for the girls involved but for the elderly with whom they visited. Members also supplied needy families with food and gifts, and sold red derbies at basketball sectional and regional time.

Key Club, sponsored by the southside Kiwanis Club, were also busy year-round. They presented a total of six movies in the auditorium for family entertainment. They gave wrestling a boost by helping to sell popcorn and cokes and forming a band, "Hausers Rouser", under the direction of Key Clubber Ray Hauser.

Members were occupied every day during Key Club week. They attended church together, had a guest speaker on community relations, raked leaves on campus, and polished athletic and band trophies. They also collected for TB and MS, and sold concessions at the 500 Mile Race. Fun activities, other than those mentioned, included a hayride, holiday parties, and a swim party.

Classes-a word many people associate with learning. All of us have different feelings about different classes. Some are interesting, others fun, others boring. We feel differently for our classes for various reasons. The presence or absence of friends, our attitude toward the teacher, and our interest in the subject matter are all factors of the type of attitude we have toward our classes. Learning through the classroom is the main reason we are in school. It is also through our classes that we make close friends. Here we can let our ideas be heard. We can compare our ideas to those of our peers. Through classes, we can put to use the ideas we have learned.

English classes successfully try phase electives

"We feel that language is man's most important invention," explained Mr. Richard Blough, the English Department Head. "We feel English is the basic means as well as the vital key to communications and man's mark of humanity." With this in mind, Manual's English Department took a change from its traditional values and teaching methods.

Besides the six required semesters of English many "extras" were available to those who wished to broaden their overall knowledge of the English Language. Speech helped many students to gain speaking confidence and poise. Etymology presented a general picture of how words originated and how the English language developed. An understanding of one's behavior in connection to one's culture was conveyed through Humanities.

Five Phase Elective English classes, an enlargement of the popular mini-courses, placed greater emphasis upon the goals and ambitions of the individual student. Students selected just three courses, each lasting six weeks, in which to study. This program provided a wider choice of subject matter and variety to normal routine.

Manual's library served the school further this year with the addition of a $17,000 copying machine. Not only were books available but also, many tapes, filmstrips, newspapers, and magazines were at the disposal of every Manual student.

TOP/Miss Cynthia Mahin turns on a tape recorder for Mark Owens. Tapes and other audio visuals were a great asset.

Man reaches for social status: foreign languages relate cultures

Promoting the idea that man's social status is connected with his culture, past and present, the Social Studies Department set about to relate this to the students. With this in mind, several classes had new names: Metropolitan Problems became Urban Problems, World History was changed to World Civilization, and Civics was changed to Social Sciences.

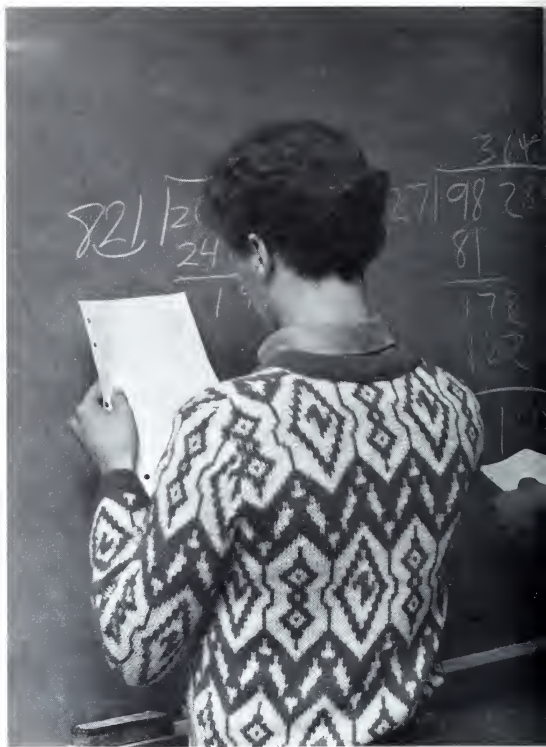

Several of the classes carried on interesting projects through the course of the year. Mr. Fred Belser's Government classes had "elections" in which a "Southside Congressman" was elected from each class. The Urban Problems class under the direction of Mr. James Fuqua, visited the City County Building and the Police Department during the year.

A more conversational approach was used this year by the Foreign Language Department. Students tried to speak more of their "second language."

Games such as Scrabble, Monopoly, and Answer Please proved a fun way to practice French and Spanish in class and added variety to usual classroom routines.

A popular addition to the department was a glass case, displaying articles from various countries. This helped students learn about French, Spanish, and Latin cultures.

Math and science students ponder equations, frogs, space, unknown

Recognizing the importance of math both in itself and in other fields, many Manualites elected to take more than the required one year for graduation.

This year was a combination of both the old and the new. Basic Math, General Math, Algebra, Calculus, Geometry, Trigonometry, and a second year of General Math were offered by the department.

Whether puzzling over algebraic equations or solving for that mysterious "x," Math students found themselves working hard preparing to cope with the advance courses.

Taking advantage of the many lectures, films, and experiments, the Science Department students explored energy, the elements, and the origin and development of life and mankind.

One highpoint of the year for sophomores occurred when live but unconscious frogs were dissected. This helped the students to understand how living creatures perform vital life functions.

Slide rules and periodic tables became familiar objects to each Chemistry student. Reaction and composition of chemicals were studied in Chemistry. Physics students concentrated on motion, force, and time. Once these were mastered, they tackled the inter-relationship of the three. Pupils in Earth Science studied not only the earth, but our solar system and universe as well.

Redskins' love for fine arts inspires creativity

What can two hands, a little clay, and a spark of imagination produce? That was the challenge presented to art students in Ceramics, a popular addition to the Art Department's curriculum.

Products from all classes — Fine Arts, Craft Arts, Jewelry, and Ceramics — reflected originality, sensitivity, and hours of labor.

Art Appreciation classes helped students to grasp the aims, feelings, and techniques of artists through the ages. The 1000 slides of masterpieces in the Art Department's collection were used for enjoyment, study, and illustration.

Junior Lee Foster was Manual's representative to the newly-formed student board of the Indianapolis Museum of Art. Many students won honors. It was a rewarding year for art students whether their project was a hooked rug, a ring, or a self-portrait.

Redskins love music. Under the concerned direction of Mrs. Martha Cross, new head of the Music Department, students hummed, warbled, harmonized, played, and marched their way through a challenging year.

Although spirits were "dampened" by the IHSMA awards program, the Manual Band proudly represented Manual at Clean Air Day ceremonies and at the 500 Mile Parade. The Pep Band led the way to spirit at home games.

GUYS AND DOLLS was a success and the Concert Club's performance on the Circle helped spread Christmas cheer. Through their classes and performances, Manual's music students gained confidence, experience, and technical skills.

Home Ec classes alter; Business introduces COE

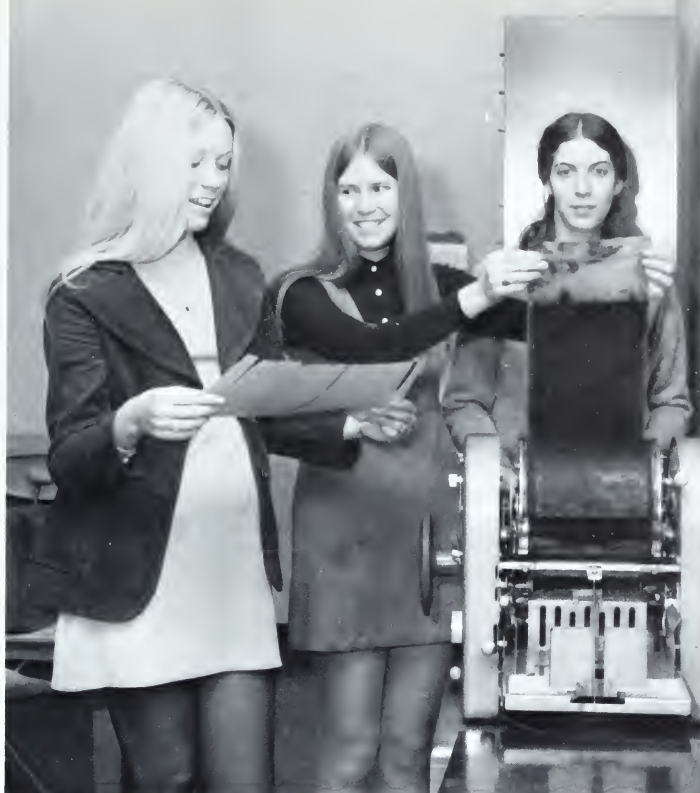

Fewer teachers faced increased enrollment in the Home Economics Department this year. Over-crowding forced luncheons out of the program, yet other activities such as field trips, outside demonstrations, and guest speakers filled the curriculum.

Most Home Economics classes underwent name changes: only Family Living remained the same as last year. Home Nursing became Family Health and Housing and Management became Homemaking. Social Practice 1 and 2 was combined into a one period, fall semester course, with Child Care and Development offered in the spring. Because of overcrowding, each class spent less time sewing and cooking than previously.

Students enrolled in the Business Department could accumulate a major in any of five employment areas: accounting, distributive education, data processing, clerical, or stenographic work.

Co-Operative Office Education, a new course, trained senior students both in class and on the job for office occupations. A new club for COE students, the Office Education Association, was geared toward both community service and business education.

Typing and Shorthand remained favorites of students wanting to improve job opportunities. Whether majoring in business or not, the Business Department prepared students in basic business skill and gave specialized training for both personal gain and future career use.

Experiences in shop help create "on-the-job" training for students

With the goal of giving each student exploratory experience in various fields of industry, the Industrial Arts Department put into effect a new program. Less emphasis was put upon the individual projects as before. Instead, more time was spent on creating an "on the job" atmosphere. Tool operation, terms, and career type situations were emphasized in the classroom.

Freshmen were introduced to a new program, An Introduction to Industry, in which the student was given an overall view of six selected fields. One full six weeks grading period was spent on each of these subjects; car mechanics construction, electricity, graphic arts, metals, and drafting. In each area, the student would hit only the high points in order to get an overall picture of what to expect in each field. From there, they will be able to choose an area in which to specialize in for the next four semesters.

Architectural and Mechanical Drawing classes were conducted in a similar fashion as every student was expected to meet the requirements at his own pace.

Also new this year was the PVE program, Pre-Vocational Education. Classes were conducted in the new portable classroom. Basic aims were to give the students help in home maintenance and improvement.

ROTC and Gym instill fitness, skills, discipline

Manual's ROTC is one of the finest in the city. Every year Manual competes in the Annual Federal Inspection which is held at our football field in April.

One of the main features of the ROTC is the rifle team. The team competed against other drill teams throughout the city.

Awards were given at the Cadet Federal Inspection for academic achievements, neatness, and personal appearance. Each Thursday an inspection was held to keep each cadet on his military toes.

ROTC cadets passed out all programs for football home games and helped rope off the basketball court at home basketball games.

Our ROTC has provided excellent preparation for those aiming toward military academies or services.

"Classes are really crowded. We have three different classes of about 100 boys," said Mr. Elwood McBride, head of the Physical Education Department.

Most activities in beginning classes needed to be on a large scale. These included basketball volleyball, football, and softball. Advanced classes received more individual attention through golf, archery, and bowling.

Girls' Physical Education classes were basically the same as the boys, only the girls did more written work. They wrote reports on health articles and the sports in which they were involved.

Track and field events, touch football, soccer, basketball, gymnastics, and modern dance were among the girls' activities. Advanced classes were available to any who wished to take more than the one year of required gym.

Manual teachers happily welcome return to normalcy and harmony

Manual finally returned to normalcy this year. Its faculty was not burdened with worries of bureaucratic business and could concentrate on the main problem at hand — the development and growth of Manual's students.

For the first time in many years, faculty members did not have to worry about being transferred during the first weeks of school. Teachers were assured of number-in-classes because Manual was not affected by Judge Hugh Dillon's busing decision. Another teachers' strike was averted when the School Board reached an agreement on contracts for the 1973-1974 school year. In fact, contracts were signed during the first week of school.

It was a big year for teacher promotions and new faces in leadership positions.

The teachers who filled these positions became directors and leaders for Manual students. Mr. Dan Bolin became Manual's second Band director in nineteen years. Mrs. Martha Cross was appointed head of the Music Department. The new Dean of Girls was Mrs. Mary Jane Haas. Ms. Toni Hammer assumed the leadership of the Publications Office. The duties of Director of Activities kept Miss Joyce Simmons busy. Mr. Ray Schultz, new Varsity Football coach, led the Redskin team to a .500 season.

Sports — another source of involvement at Manual. There are numerous and varied types of sports in which both male and female can get involved. It is through these sports that students gain a strong sense of belonging and pride. Seemingly endless hours of practice and work are rewarded by a job done well. Sports also help build a general unity in the school. Competition between schools builds enthusiasm and spirit. It shows how a student body can rally behind a team and help support the school. Whether the team wins or loses should be secondary. It is the amount of effort and pride the athletes put out that really matters.

Under the direction of first year Head Coach Raymond Schultz, the 1973 Varsity Football team ended the season in a flourish by winning four of their last six games to finish with an even record of 5-5.

Playing one of the "toughest schedules" in the city, the team opened the season with a loss to Northwest. Shortridge, seventh ranked team in the state at that time, was the first victim of the Redskins and Coach Schultz. The victory was short-lived however, as the squad fell on successive week-ends to Washington and Howe. Brebeuf was the next to fall to the team as they travelled to Pike for the game. Cathedral, number one in the city, barely escaped the Redskins on a last second field goal as the 'Skins completely dominated the game. Ritter and Roncalli fell victim to the "fired" up team. Southport dampened the Homecoming by defeating Manual in a close defensive struggle. The Redskins closed out the year with a win over Wood.

The team was lead by the running of Wilfred Jimison. Jimison was the leading ground gainer as well as the leading scorer. He was backed by the fine play of Don Kasper, Jeff Bunnell, Mark Campbell, John Masingale, Carl Jones, Chuck Cothron, Rolfe Bruce, Terry Thacker, and Brett Andrews.

Younger teams sweat, strive, build for future

Through the playing time they got, Reserve and Freshmen players gained valuable experience which will be needed for future years as Manual football players.

The Reserve team finished the year with a 5-3-1 record as they won their last two ballgames. First year Coach Dan Nolan commented on the season by saying, "The team came out winners and will carry on that tradition next year as Varsity players."

Coach Jim Metzler's Freshmen team finished the year at 3-5-1 behind outstanding performances by Mark Owens, Tom Finchum, and Tom Masengale. These were just a few who showed great promise.

Cross Country men run rampant by achieving a winning season

For the fourth straight year, Manual's Varsity Cross Country team finished with a winning 8-6 record under the coaching of Mr. Al Pike. The distance men ran to an eighth place finish in the City Meet.

Senior Russ Finley was the leading runner for the 'Skins, with the best time of the year. He was backed by Les Estes, Tom Ruoff, and Larry Milli.

The Reserve team finished the year by defeating Southport's Varsity team. They finished with an impressive 11-2 record and a second place finish in the City Meet.

The Freshmen were paced by Ray Wright, who set a new Manual record for the mile run. He led the first year men to an overall record of 2-4 and a fourth place finish in the City.

Little white balls challenge 'Skins in golf, tennis

Manual's Varsity Golf and Tennis teams were paced by the solid play of several outstanding underclassmen. Golf Coach Woody McBride and Tennis Coach Robert Hignite designated this lack of varsity experience as the only trouble for their teams.

The 1973 Golf team, led by Freshman Sam Bowling, finished the year 10-11. Bowling, winner of the Bridgeford Award, was the low shooter for the team. He was followed by Sophomore Gerry Walden, Freshmen John Greer and Francis Kriese, and Junior Gary Elfers. Behind them, the team placed seventh in the City and ninth in the Sectional meets.

The '73-'74 Racketmen, led by Fritz Kriese and Chuck Laetsh, ended the season with a record of 5-4. These two sophomores were backed by the play of Freshman Brian Kent, Junior Jim Jurgen, and Seniors Charlie Johnson and Doug Polen. The team finished well in the City and the Sectional meets with sixth and fifth place finishes respectively.

Rommel leads 'Skin grapplers to 8-4 season

Compiling an 8-4 regular season record, the Varsity Wrestling team presented Coach Jack Foster with his fifth winning season in a row. With only one senior on the squad, inexperience kept the team from further accomplishments. If the enthusiasm which produced two City Champions and two State Finalists carries over with the underclassmen, Manual's wrestling future looks very bright.

The first two positions were the best starting combination in the City as Junior Jack Spaulding and Senior Rommel Smith won the City Championships in their respective weight classes. Rommel finished the season undefeated and suffered his only loss of the year during the Finals as he finished his wrestling career as State Runner-up.

Other outstanding performances were turned in by several other underclassmen. These included such men as Robert Mullen, Steve Harmon, Mike Schick, Pat Arnold, and Larry Vaughn. All of these will prove invaluable next year.

Redskins' Sectional win crowns good 14-9 season

Dedication and a lot of heart carried the Varsity Basketball team to Manual's first Sectional Crown in thirteen years. Not since the Van-Arsdale twins led the 'Skins to the State Finals has a Manual team advanced as far. Forgetting the "ifs" and the "almosts", the 'Skins of Coach Fred Belser came to life towards the end of the regular season enroute to compiling an impressive 14-9 winning record. This was the best record since 1965.

Playing when the occasion arose, the 'Skins scored wins over some of the best teams in the city. Led by guards Ernie Hill and Derrick Johnson in the scoring department, and the rebounding of Gary Elfers, Carl Jones, and Kevin Richardson, the 'Skins defeated such teams as Cathedral, Washington, Shortridge, and City-Champion Tech. Heading into the last month of competition, the team tuned up for Sectional play by winning four of the last six regular season games.

Easing by Wood and Howe in the first two games, Manual won the right to face Beech Grove in the final game at Southport. Close all the way, the game was decided on a pair of last minute freethrows by Gary Elfers. The win gave the team the Championship and surprised many of the "experts." Hopes were dampened the following Saturday however, as Ben Davis defeated the 'Skins as Manual was whistled for almost three times as many fouls as the Giants.

ABOVE/ Mass happiness followed the title game as the team is swamped by joyous followers. The Sectional title ended a thirteen year drought for Manual and filled the entire school with the pride and unity of being "tops."

RIGHT/ Senior Gary Elfers puts in a turning left hand shot in the game at Southport. Gary came on towards the end of the year to guide the team to the Southport Sectional Title.

RIGHT Junior Ernie Hill soars high for two more points in a win over Washington. Ernie averaged almost twenty points as he led the Redskins in scoring.

BELOW/ Guard Derrick Johnson drives in for two points despite the outstretched arms of Wayne Radford of Arlington.

Classy freshmen crown winning season with City Tourney victory

For the first time since the Vandal twins played in 1957 Manual's Freshman Basketball team won the City Championship crown. Finishing the regular season with an impressive 14-4 record, which included a ten game winning streak, the Freshmen of Coach Steve Witty ended the year in a similar way.

The tourney trek began with the Attucks Tigers. Hitting with deadly accuracy, the team overwhelmed the Tigers by a score of 62-34. Cathedral was the next foe in their quest. The Irish were no match for the 'Skins as Manual won by a score of 45-35. Things began to get a little rougher as the competition began to stiffen. Howe was the Semi-Final opponent and proved a formidable obstacle. Having had squeezed by the Hornets in regular season by one point, the team had on their hands a game which was figured to be close. It was! Behind most of the game, Manual let loose during the second half to salvage a win on a free-throw by Charles Cook with one second remaining on the clock. The final score was 46-45. In the final game, Manual faced the Broad Ripple Rockets in our gym. Broad Ripple had defeated the 'Skins earlier in the year. The game was a close one with neither team giving up. With one minute remaining, the score was tied at 45-45. Having lost the ball and a chance to win, things looked bad. But a Broad Ripple error gave the 'Skins one last chance for a win. With 18 seconds remaining, the team brought the ball down the court looking for a clear, open shot. With 3 seconds left, Tom Finchum took a desperation shot from about fifteen feet out which went through the hoop for a 47 to 45 win.

With such outstanding play by outstanding underclassman on all three teams — Varsity, Reserve, and Freshman; Manual's basketball future appears to be very bright in all three spots. Next year could be THE year for Manual basketball and spectators.

Girls' sports improve with early and more practice

Athletic competition for females increased and improved this year with better organization and determination. The girls' sports program included volleyball, basketball as winter sports and tennis and track as spring sports.

Because male sports have priority of the gym, the volleyball and basketball teams were forced to practice at 6:30 a.m.

The volleyball team coached by Miss Kathy Lawrie ended the season with a 4-8 record. So many girls turned out for the sport that a varsity and a reserve squad played scheduled games. The team lost to Howe in the first game of the sectionals in their bid for the state volleyball championship.

Basketball team members dribbled, shot, and rebounded their way to a 5-6 season. Coach Tom Fox, assisted by Rex Gaddis and Miss Kathy Lawrie, drilled and advised the girls through a relatively tough schedule from December to March. The girls worked hard all season on shooting, defense and free throws. Yet with all their work, free throws were the weakest area in the teams playing. This was the cause of some losses.

Cheers acclaim Moriarty's men for 12-2 record

Under the leadership of Coach Moriarty, the 1973 Varsity Track team kept up their winning ways. Finishing with a 12-2 record, it was the eighteenth straight year that the Varsity Track team has finished with a winning season.

Behind the outstanding performances of a fine senior nucleus, the Redskins finished third in the City and Sectional Meets. These included co-MVPs Royce Allen and Roger Carroll, Luther Rush, Mike Grider, Mark Shives, Dave Huber, Randy Johnson, John Meehan and Eddie Owens.

Individual honors were earned by these seniors: Royce Allen, City, County, Sectional, and the Regional Champion in the low hurdles as well as fourth in the State Meet; Roger Carroll, City Mile Champion; 880 Relay team, Allen, Shives, Meehan, and Owens, City County, and the Sectional Champions.

Top returning "stars" this year include John Masengale, Tom Ruoff, Darol Davie, Russ Finley, Rolfe Bruce, and Terry Thacker.

Winning streak brings Manual's baseball squad to Sectional win

Winning fifteen of the last twenty ballgames of the season, Manual's 1973 Varsity Baseball squad earned City Runner-up title as well as Southport Sectional Championship crowns enroute to compiling an impressive 17-10 season record.

Entering City Tournament play with a 2-5 record, Manual defeated Deaf School and Ritter behind the shutout pitching of Seniors Rick Gabbard and Norman Leonard. The Redskins got into the finals by defeating Roncalli by a score of 7-2. However, Chatard's Trojans repeated as City Champions when they defeated the Redskins 3-0 in the final.

Behind the .300 plus hitting of Seniors Mark Montgomery, Rick Gabbard, Captain Don Goad, and MVP Norman Leonard, Manual tuned up for Sectional play by winning seven of the last eight regular season games.

Manual opened the Sectional play by defeating Washington by the score of 9-0. The Redskins then defeated Roncalli 15-5 with the aid of a grand-slam home run by Rick Gabbard. Manual defeated Franklin Central, barely in time for the Seniors to participate in graduation exercises in their uniforms, by the score of 3-1 in the Sectional final. The victory was short-lived however, as they dropped their Regional opener to the Marshall Patriots 3-1.

Our girls in red and white once again encouraged the spectators to cheer for the Manual Redskins. Chants, cheers, and cries for victory were heard on the court, field, and mats.

The cheerleaders worked hard this year to boost school spirit and student participation at home and away games. They participated in two spirit weeks, sponsored by the Key Club and SAB.

The varsity and reserve cheerleaders attended Vincennes University Cheerleading Camp for one week during the summer. Along with other high school cheerleaders, the girls learned many new cheers and routines. They participated in contests between the various squads. Our girls brought home several ribbons and a spirit stick.

Backing our grapplers were the wrestling greeters. This year there were more greeters than in the past, allowing for separate varsity and reserve squads. The girls took tickets at home meets, helped with score-keeping, and gave a general boost of spirit to the wrestlers. The two squads were chosen by Coach James Metzler. Ms. Belinda Miller sponsored the greeters this year. The girls agreed that being a greeter was fun and a good way to get involved.

School life-a summation of the special things that made our daily trips to school worthwhile. The friends, activities, sports and classes that made everyday different. These things will make us remember our high school life as something unique and exciting.

We will associate 1974 as a school year at Manual where we learned, lived and grew.

Homecoming combines old and new in revised halftime pageantry

Though losing the football game, Homecoming brought about as big a burst of enthusiasm as has ever been seen around Manual. With it came a return to old traditions as well as the introduction of new ones.

Excitement filled the halls throughout the day as classes, most notably those of Coach Ray Schultz, paused moments before the bells rang to lead neighboring rooms in "Beat Southport!" cheers. MUC members dressed as Indians, complete with warpaint and tomahawks. Key Club-sponsored floats were displayed on campus for the first time in many years. The Roines float was awarded the "Best Theme" award while the Publications office received the "Best Design" plaque. Most of the crowd arrived early that evening for a Dad's Club Fish Fry and a pre-game pep session.

Halftime festivities began in near-freezing weather with a parade around the track, with the Band and King and Queen candidates. Highlight of halftime festivities came when Tim Crafton and Debbie Cradick were crowned King and Queen to the tune of "Tonight."

The Redskins football squad put forth a hard effort but lost the football game to archrival Southport. The Cardinals scored a late touchdown to slip by Manual 7-3.

Dice, love, music, fun, combine in "Guys and Dolls"

Manual's stage was transformed into a world of gamblers, chorus girls, and romance as the Music Department featured Frank Loesser's comical hit "Guys and Dolls" as the 1973 Musical.

Supported by a group of well casted performers, and hours and days of endless practice, the production was one of the finest ever performed on the Manual stage. The show's stage director, Mr. Fred Bennett, reflected on the success of the show by saying, "The music and the cast were tremendous. The students put a tremendous amount of work into it to make it one of the finest shown at Manual."

The story revolves around the gambling worlds of Nathan Detroit, portrayed by Junior Randy Ferris, and Sky Masterson, Senior Bob Stubbs. These two were caught up in their own world and the world of romance. Nathan had to find a permanent home for the oldest floating crap game in New York City and avoid Miss Adelaide, played by Senior Terri Horn, and his fourteen year engagement to her. In order to raise $1,000 dollars, Nathan makes a bet with Sky that he will not be able to get a date with Miss Sarah Brown, portrayed by Senior Karen O'Connor, who runs the Save-A-Soul Mission. Sky takes the bet and convinced Miss Sarah to go to Havana with him. Something happens which neither were counting upon: they fall in love and must make a decision of a life time. As fate would have it, love won out and Miss Adelaide, and Miss Sarah "won out" as love conquered all.

Talent overflows in inventive acts for 45th annual Redskin Revue

Three inventive acts, inspired by the theme Great Inventors and Inventions of the World, pleased Redskin Revue audiences in their two-night run.

"Watt You Save Is What You Get," written by Tom Pinner and Larry Hathaway, was sparked by the performances of Tom Pinner and the effervescent Terri Horn portraying Ben Franklin and his loving wife. They won the awards for best male and best female performances.

In "A Mid-Austrian Night's Dream" written by Lee Foster and Robin Burk, Karla Andrews and Michelle Kemp garnered the award for best choreographers for their dancing germs routine. In the same act Margaret Jones' humorous portrayal of Ozura, a chemist, claimed the Viginette award.

The final act, "It's About Time," written by Sandy Holmes, Mark Holmes, and John Masengale was chosen best act. It was highlighted by the performances of Cindy Denton and Tim Baker who won the awards for best female and best male singers. Gerald Cox as Alcenor the head god scored as the best comic portrayal. The Tic-Toc's chorus line excelled to earn the best chorus line award.

TOP/ Cast members of "It's About Time" finish the show with the song "Rock Around The Clock." The water clock in the background was the invention the act centered around.

New students experience, learn, share

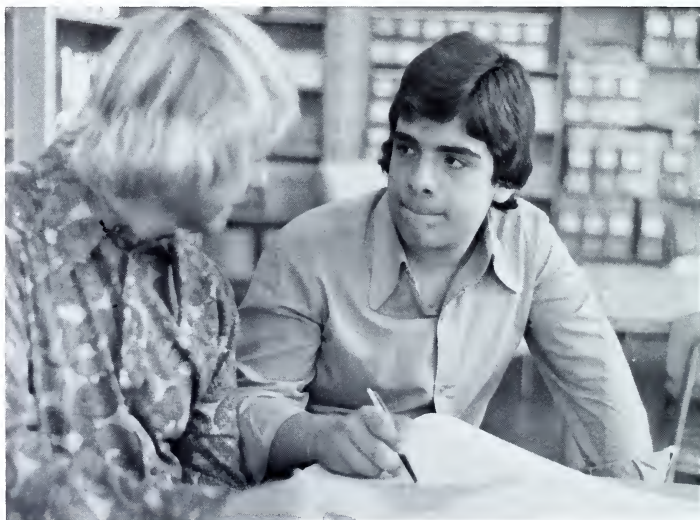

Manual was lucky enough to receive two foreign exchange students this year, one from Ecuador and one from Brazil. They brought with them a wealth of culture and ideas to share.

Ximena Ve'Lez, from Quito, Ecuador, came to live with Senior Linda May and her family for one year. Ximena found school in the United States different. In Quito, she said, hours were from 7:30 to 12:30 and from 3:00 to 5:00, with no study halls and the entire day filled with classes.

"Life moves much faster in America," said Ximena, but she added, "I've become accustomed to it." Ximena was active in Spanish Club and enjoyed life in Indianapolis.

Paulo Marques came to Manual for the second semester and stayed in the home of Senior Phil Herbig and Freshman Marty Herbig. Paulo came from Sao Paulo, Brazil, where Portuguese is spoken. There Paulo studied a wide variety of subjects. He especially enjoyed sports, art, and theatricals. His Brazilian school day consisted of five hours from March to June and from August to November.

At first the communications gap between Ximena, Paulo, and American friends and hosts seemed wide. But with patience, understanding, and a handy pocket dictionary, the gap slowly closed. Ximena and Paulo learned not only invaluable language skills, but gained a new perspective of American life they would not have experienced otherwise. The year proved exciting and worthwhile not only for Ximena and Paulo, but for everyone who had the opportunity to meet them.

Seniors involved during final year as Manualites

Senior lunch-line, senior homeroom, graduation announcements, class dues, senior pictures, cap and gown measurements, Roines, and Masoma set the final year apart from their previous three at Manual for the Senior Class of 1974. The headaches of the first three years as underclassmen; a teacher strike struggling with classes, racial problems, teacher changes, and final exams, all seemed to disappear as the slow countdown to graduation began on the first day of school.

The year began with the traditional move to senior homeroom in the cafeteria on the first day of school. It was here that the Seniors learned the various responsibilities which were expected of them. What being a Senior was all about was conveyed by Senior Sponsor Mr. Dennis Jackson.

Class activities began with the class elections in September. The elections ended with Mark Campbell elected president. Others who were elected were; Jeff Bunnell as vice-president, Sandy Holmes as secretary, and Donna Thompson as treasurer. These four "took charge" after being sworn in by Principal Howard Thrall during Senior Day activities. With the help of the Senior Council, these Seniors headed the Class of 1974 through various activities, such as Turnabout Day, a senior hayride, and two Senior Days, all the way to the year's end with Vespers, Commencement and the Senior Prom in June.

Many Seniors could not help but reflect upon their four years at Manual with pride, respect, and with an over-whelming feeling of self-achievement.

Memorable, rewarding year experienced by juniors

Last year's sophomores stepped up into the ranks of upperclassmen and enjoyed all the privileges and fun of finally becoming a junior. Whether looking forward to classes, elections, parties, or simply the title of "upperclassman," juniors made their presence known about Manual.

Juniors were represented by class officers for the first time since coming to Manual. Elected as president was Perry Corbett, while Pam Hill became vice-president. Karen Jerrell was elected secretary and Vicki Short, treasurer. Officers met Frequently to plan the various class activities.

Once again, Manual's main hallway was decorated during Christmastime, thanks to a beautiful tree put up by juniors.

Junior Day on March 6 served as a day of recognition for third-year Manualites. Top Ten Juniors were announced after being judged in scholarship, character traits, and school service.

Many juniors were transformed into colorful formals and tuxedos for the Junior Prom. This year's dance took place at the Murat Hotel. Crowning for the King and Queen highlighted the evening. A contest was held earlier in the year to name a theme for the prom, with a five dollar prize offered to the winner.

For juniors, 1974 marked a time when students attended school because they wanted to and not because they were under the 16-year-old age limit. The memories of calls of "Freshie!" and worries of locating the fourth floor restrooms were really put behind. All in all, it was a memorable year for juniors.

Advertisements — a way to make our product known to others. In the Ivian, this is one reason people buy advertisements. But another reason is that these people want to support Manual. It is through advertising that the community and the student body reach a common point. These members of the community are our friends and neighbors. We count on them for the things necessary in life, just as they count on us for our help.
